Many of us whether it was a family member or a friend was affected in one way or another and they did not make it to see this new year, so let us first of all thank God for sparing our lives to see 2014. His purpose for our lives are not complete there are still work he needs for us to do. As we begin this New Year or beginning, it is also giving us the opportunity to start over. Our past, was just that, however we can learn from it, make better choices, with an even greater outcome.

When I asked various members to tell me what some of these New Year's resolution were, none of their responses were the same. Some of their responses are:

1. Trying to be more on time (working on time management skills)
2. To make 2014 better than 2013
3. To laugh more
4. To grow closer to Christ, that nothing will distract me, no waivers, if God says it then that is it, be less stress
5. To love more and be more considerate of all the things that Lord has bless me with even the simple things like my towel...to keep the faith and trust God and be more expressive and talk to people about Jesus
6. Get out of debt, complete school, be successful and meet my husband

It is great to reflect and make a conscious effort to make a change because none of us are perfect and that means there will also be something or an area in our lives that we can improve but most importantly put Jesus Christ first and in all things whether good or bad give him thanks.
